SIMPLY AFTERNOON TEA

Since the early 1830's Afternoon Tea has always been a traditional part of English Life. It has been enjoyed by everyone and no longer just for the upper classes and social elite but enjoyed by all that love to have a catch up with friends and family.

Anna Russell, Duchess of Bedford, is credited with first making 'Afternoon Tea' into a formal social occasion. Finding herself understandably hungry in the gap between luncheon and dinner, the Duchess began inviting her friends to enjoy tea and a 'light refreshment' at Woburn Abbey therefore creating the afternoon tea popularity.

So come along and enjoy the surroundings and relax with friends and family situated in the heart of the grounds you will find the clubhouse with its patio perfect for afternoon Tea.

With freshly baked Cakes and Scones, Brickhampton is the perfect venue for leisurely watching the world go by whilst enjoying a sumptuous selection of cakes, sandwiches and fresh tea.
